Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2014. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 216 x 140 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .This World War II memoir describes the era of war bonds, food rationing, growing victory gardens, censored V-mail, and defense posters cautioning people with the slogan, Loose Lips Sink Ships. A time of blackouts, air raid drills, and citizens saving newspapers, emptied food cans, and used kitchen grease in support of the war effort. Gene Herst writes about his childhood living in the home of Lucille Ball when her husband, Desi Arnaz served as a corporal in the U.S. Army. It was a time when the government forced American citizens of Japanese ancestry into internment camps while German prisoners of war worked in the farm fields across the United States. For some, this story will be a nostalgic remembrance of what occurred not too far in the distant past, while for the younger people, it would be a glimpse of a lifestyle at a time that was like no other in America during 1941-1945. A time when the popular music reflected loneliness from the separation of loved ones with song titles, I ll Walk Alone, Cleaning My Rifle And Dreaming of You, and songs of heroism such as, Coming In On A Wing And A Prayer. Hollywood supported the war effort with films depicting bravery and patriotism as celebrities put their careers on hold to serve in the armed forces. This World War II home front remembrance is about ordinary people living through extraordinary times, sometimes poignant, other times humorous. It s about a boy and his dog, and his love for his country at a time when patriotism and civilian volunteerism to support the war was at an all time high even though G.I.s...
